The FREE SOIL LEAGUE held a meeting in the Court House, on last Saturday, Col. JOHN KETCHAM presiding. According to preover the signature of the President, Mr. George Ritchey, who represents himself to be a minister of the Methodist Church, addressed the meeting. He is a plain, farmer-looking man, and very fairly endowed and trained as a public speaker. His manner and language were unexceptionable; indeed everything about him indicated a man of respectable character, so far as the individual man is concerned. There is nothing of the blackguard about Mr. Ritch-EY. But alas! what doctrines did he preach? Naked Abolitionism, in its most atrocious form! Resistance to all laws that keep the negro in bondage, and their unconditional of the Union! In short, just such doctrines as would light the torch of civil war and servile insurrection throughout our country, and just such doctrines as no man dared to preach publicly in Bloomington ten years ago; and which would have insured the speaker a liberal allowance of rotten eggs. Mr. Ritchey took a text from Scripture, as the basis of his remarks.

Application was made by his friends for him to speak before the Democratic Club. at night; and under the standing rule of the Club, he was allowed to do so. He again took a text, and preached a square out abolition sermon, contending that neither the Bible nor the Constitution of the United States sanctioned slavery; that it was a sin, and ought to be abolished. He said the people and the churches of the North were responsible for the existence of slavery,that all the negroes ought to be emancipated and TURNED LOOSE. The character of Mr. Ritchey's doctrines being fully developed, all discussion on behalf of the Club was disclaimed,-the members of that body not choosing to enter into argument on such a subject.

But if their pulpit is to be turned into a political rostrum, let it be known, and they will hear enough of it. We think that traveling politicians ought to be content with two speeches on Saturday,—Sunday is a day of rest; however, as we have had the temperance string of the fusion platform put in tune in the Methodist church, by the immortal Hawkins, (F. T. B. sitting in the Amen corner,) and the anti-slavery string tuned up in the Presbyterian pulpit, by Mr. RITCHEY, we suggest that some other pulpit be set apart for Mr. WALLACE, who honored our town with a visit recently, to tune up the native American string; and then the platform may be ventilated. The people would then be ready, in the language of E. P. F., the great leader of the Republicans in this county, to "analyze principle -equalize justice, and distribute the blessings of common life."

Dunn Repudiated.

The Black Republicans in Congress objected to the appointment of Mr. Dunn on the Kansas Committee,-though according A Radical Abelitionist on the Stump and in to rule he should have been one of the Committee, because he was the mover of the proposition for raising it. And he was deliberately passed over, and the appointment given to another. The reason assignvious appointment published in handbills, ed by Black Republican newspapers is his course in the "Speaker's election." Mr. Greeley intimated that his speech on the Kansas question was more against the Republicans, (black always,) than for them. So it may be set down that Mr. Dunn is repudiated by the anti-slavery party in Con-

Well, where does he belong? We are surprised to see our Democratic neighbor, of the Columbus paper, whose ability as an editor is surpassed by few in the State, expresses himself as follows: "Mr. Dunn is not a sympathizer with the Black Republican movement; and should it become necessary, in order to defeat this dangerous PAVNE; both Radical Democrats. emancipation, in every State and Territory faction, to act with the Democratic party, Mr. Dunn will do it. * * *

"Love rules the court, the camp, the grove;
For love is Heaven, and Heaven is love,"
So sang the bard, yet thousands pine
For love, of life the light divine.

Who did they know some gentle charm,
The hearts of these they leave to recent The hearts of those they love to warm, Might live, might die, in bliss supreme, Possessing all of which they dream.

THE Blass of Marriage, is a great book, treating upon Courtship, Matrimony, the duties and delights of married life, the secret of fascination, love, beauty and the subtle laws of nature, &c.

Until the publishing of this treatise by the great German philosopher, no one supposed love to be such an easy affair, but the bliss of marriage dissects the whole C, as per quality. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2nd.

On Thursday, the 31st of January, the rumor spread, all at once, that the Sultan would attend the bal costume of the English Embassy. It seemed scarcely credible public for the liberal share of patronage which he that the descendant of the Caliphs, the has received since he commenced business in this town, spiritual and temporal head of the Mahom with bim Mr. EDWARD ROBINSON. walizes performed; yet so it was. Early in Dry Goods, Boots, Shoes, Ready-made Clothing, Hardthe afternoon, the narrow main street of Pera bore an unusually exciting aspect; numbers of people had taken up their positions in the neighborhood of the Embassy, to witness the Sultan's passage. The Turkish dignitaries, who were all to be goods. present at his arrival, were encumbering we will pay the highest price in cash.

TULEY & ROBINSON. An English guard of honor, composed of detachments of Guards and Highlanders, taken at par for goods. with the band of the 1st regiment of the German Legion at their head, marched up n. BARBOUR, C. G. SHAW, to the sound of military music, and lined the approaches to the palace.

At 8 o'clock, a fire lighted on the heights above the Imperial palace of Tcheragan, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC followed by a salvo of artillery from Galata Serai, was the signal that the Suitan had left his palace. A little before 9, he arrived at the gate of the Embassy, escorted by a detachment of the 12th Lancers, and a guard of honor composed of British officers News who lined the inner court-yard presented WE HAVE opened a new BOOK BINDERY in the arms, and the band struck up the 'Sultan's kinds of BINDING and to manufacture every descrip-March,' and 'God save the Queen.' The court itself was illuminated with numerous Merchants supplied with Account Books of all descriptions, and adorned with transparencies, tions from a pass book to a ledger which, however, owing to the blasts of wind, were only partially successful.

At the great staircase, which was crowd-Turkish dignitaries, the Sultan was received by the Ambassador and his whole personnel. Accompanied by them, he passed already assembled, into the ball-room .-There an arm-chair, on a raised dais, covered with carpets, was prepared for him, to which he was conducted. Having sat $750,000 CAPITAL! down, with the representatives of the foreign powers on one side, and the Turkish dignitaries in attendance on the other, he had several of the ladies presented to him.

Then the dancing began, which seemed to excite his interest considerably, and he kinds of Express freight, with promptness and dis stood up in order to have a better view of patch. the proceedings. He did not return to his palace, but passed the night in a kiosk belonging to his brother-in law, Ahmed Fethi Pasha.

One must remember the religious prejudices of the Mahommedans against all trivial amusements, and the strict rules of etiquette which were always kept up in all relations of the Sultan with the representatives of foreign powers, in order to appreciate this act of the Sultan to its full extent. What in other countries would be a polite but insignificant ceremony, receives here a certain political importance. It is the first time that a Sultan of the Ottoman empire has honored the house of the repre-Shahin Sha, or King of Kings, the Sultan, in the eyes of his Mahommedan subjects. any other sovereign. In spite of the lessons of modern history, and the doubts among the more enlightened of the Mahomniedans, this idea is still the prevalent ly the time when the Sultan was the undisof the Sultan's visiting the house of a for-eign Ambassador is more calculated to ety, love of solitude, timidity, self-distrust, dizziness, headache, involuntary discharges or nightly emissions, pains in the side, affection of the eyes, pimples on the open their eyes to the real state of the case face, sexual and other infirmities in man.

Every act of the Sultan's private life is so jealously concealed from every eye that no one except his chief eunuch is allowed to attend at his meals. This rule, originally intended as a safeguard against poisoning, forms, in the eyes of his people, a the only exception being made at the Bairam, when the highest dignitaries, and only those, are allowed to kiss his feet; and at the ball on Thursday, he took the Ambassador by the hand, and walked down with among the most eminent Scientific and practical men of him the whole length of the staircase to his carriage, in the presence of a crowd of attendants and foreigners.

Louisville, April 5, 1855. Hurley's Sarsaparilla is what is represented, and I lelieve it the most wonderful medicine before the public. Nothing under heaven could induce me to say so without proof of the strongest and surest kind; therefore I speak willingly and positively on the subject.

My daughter has been afflicted with skin diseases and nine, but have not found a particle of either in it, nor have I found any substance in its composition that I gave her your Sarsaparilla, not expecting it would do much good, but, to my great astonishment, she rapidly got well, and, thank God, continues so. Had she been taking any other medicine. I would not give this certificate; but your Sarsaparilla, the only Mothers' Friend, and find it to be one of the best comremedy employed, leaves no doubt of its medical qual ities, and that it alone cured her.

M. L. LEWIS,

Market st., between Second and Third.

Dr. Lewis-I take great pleasure in informing you that I consider your Mother's Friend one of the very best compounds now offered to the public, and especially to afflicted females. For my wife it has worked wonders after a long and tedious trial of three years with other medicines. After she had become much debiliated and almost helpless, from the long continued use of useless drugs, she resorted to your Mother's Friend in connection with other prescriptions which you recommended. These she continued for a short length of time, when she recovered, and now enjoys the blessing of good health. One of my neighbors who was afficied in a manner similar to that of my wife, took
