The News Letter.

BLOOMINGTON.

September 29th, A.D. 1824.

To the Editors of the News Letter.

The subject of the President's message, which is the object of the present communication, is one of the most important which can be submitted to the public. It is a subject which, by reason of its magnitude, and the interest which it involves, can not be overlooked without danger of serious consequences. The Executive department of the government has been, and is, at this time, under the necessity of taking measures for the preservation of the country. The necessity is so urgent that the Executive department, by its message, has declared it to be of the first importance. The necessity is so urgent that the Executive department, by its message, has declared it to be of the first importance.
