Horrific Editors of the News-Letter.

—"the cannibals that each other eat, The Anthropophagi, and men whose heads Do grow beneath their shoulders." OTHELLO, Act I, Scene 2.

Of all the Gorgons, Chimeras, Centaurs, Satyrs, Cannibals, Anthropophagi, and other real and fabulous creatures of ancient or modern times, the editors of the News-Letter, in the estimation of many of the good people of Bloomington, men, women, and children, are, perhaps, the most terrible and awe-inspiring. And all because we published a list of Know Nothings, and don't believe a man ought to be persecuted for his religion! As we pass along the streets the K. N.'s scowl at us, and their wives press their chairen closer to their bosoms, as if an unchained menagerie was passing along the pavement. When they would frighten their children into obedience, they no longer resort to threats about "buggers," "Old Scratch," or any of the common-place nursery expedients, but merely mention the name of CARLTON! That's enough. The "greate and terrible beast" QUARLE, fills the Know Nothings' idea of the smasher up—done for—shivered—blighted editors of the News-Letter: "a form without crestfal en-ruined! Mr. CREAMCHEESE conlikeness, and yet comparable to the most terrible cludes e had better leave. He makes several part of every frightful creature: a large head, meandering deviations from a right line; whereresembling that of a lion, bearing three pair of at, he years Mr. Dash remark, "that booby horns, one pair upright like that of an antelope, has got a brick in his hat." Miss Lydia replies another pair like a goat's, two more bending with a merry laugh. So much for sympathy in backwards; its face armed all round with darts like a porcupine, vast great eyes, sparkling like a flint struck with steel; its nose like a wild horse, always snarling; the mouth of a lion and the teeth of a panther; the fences of an elephant, and the tusks of a wild boar; shouldered like a giant, with claws like an eagle; bodied and covered with shells like a rhinoceros; and the color of a crocodile."

QUERIES .- What did the Know Nothings of this county mean when they passed a resolution last Fall, to appoint a committee of three, to ferret out the "traitor" they had in their midst?

What did they mean by the resolution, (introduced by a very good Christian,) that they would send down and get the night hawks of Lawrence county to attend to his case if he was discovered? ["Night Hawks" seems to be another name by which the disciples of the Knight of the Black Mask are known among the Holy Brotherhood.]

What are the K. N.'s doing now, since they got their new ritual and new commissions of officers about the 6th of March?

What about that horrible oath that they administer to their neophytes, of the first degree. when they get some unsuspecting young man before them, by which they attempt to bind his soul and conscience to the will of the majority dollars, for expenses in fitting and by delay. of a midnight oligarchy?

The Democrats of Shelby county had a glorious jubilee in honor of the result of the Virginia election, on the 8th inst. The procession was over half a mile long, and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. Able speeches were made by Hon. J. L. Robinson, Col. May, O. B. Torbet, Col. J. C. Walker, Hon. T. A. Hen-DRICKS, and M. M. RAY.

At the Whig meeting, Col. James T. Blackis; pne presided. Messrs. John H. Sotheron, George C. Morgan, J. F. Dent, James R. Hopewell, and Robert Ford having been appointed a committee for the purpose, reported a series of resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting, from which we extract the following:

The Shanghai Fever was one of the most expensive humbugs that our people ever embarked in. It was supposed that if we could get chickens to become as large as jackasses a great boon would be conferred upon the country, and the price of turkey stews reduced to one cent each. People forget that if we have great size we not have great feeding also. A Shanghai will grow until he weighs 12 pounds. By the time he does this, however, he will have consumed corn enough to have kept the famine out of Egypt, and Joseph from becoming first Lieutenant to Pharach.

The Shanghai does not begin to fatten until he is done growing, and does not begin to think of that before he enters his third year—by which time he is so tough that you have to cut him up with a saw and buck and carve him with a broad axe. The Shanghai appears to have but one mission, and that consists of putting Indian meal out of sight. The female seems to have very singular tastes. She will eat old boots, door-mats, and dishcloths, but she is totally opposed to laying eggs, that duty being too confining, we suppose. We bought a pair in 1853, for $15. "Oh, My Brother! What a Light!"

Such were the last words of a young and ovely girl whose pure spirit was recently furnished with pinions, to pass in quiet dig-nity from all earth's cares. She had long ince ceased to find her chiefest pleasures in the 'beggarly elements of this world;' her life had been a beautiful exemplification of the religion of Jesus; and the valey of the shadow of death had no terrors for her. No wonder-seeing that it was lighted by the smiles of the Crucified. Cue who was present at the death bed of his daughter of the Cross declares it to have been the sweetest picture of Christian resignation and triumph that could be conceived. Peace crowned the brow of the sufferer, like a living halo; smiles, serene as a June morning, covered her pale lips, and her eye, though its color had faded, was as bright as the evening star. God had set nis seal upon her—and for her to die was lessed and beautiful. 'What a light!' We cannot hesitate as to he source of that light. With the hero of he Apocalypse, she 'saw Heaven opened.' The brightness of Paradise was made manifest to her earthly vision for a token and for a joy. The sunshine of the New Morning broke upon her drooping eyelids, and hashed upon the way she was soon to travel. No wonder that she exclaimed, with rapturous vehemence, 'What a light!'

'What a light!' Was it not the assurance of a life well spent—of a glorious triumph over 'the last enemy'-of a diadem that waited far up beyond the blue that our eyes can see, for her radiant forehead? Is there nothing in religion when it paints so lovely a scene as this? Is Faith a fable when so it strengthens the soul?

'What a light!' Which is better, the sunshine or the storm? the beam or the shadow? 2 30 the crown of Abel or the brandmark of Cain?

> Life is real, life is earnest, And the grave is not its goal; Dust thou art, to dust returnest, Was not spoken of the soul.'

It is meet that we should labor. It is not vrong to occupy our minds with the care of the world, to a certain extent; but if the world is made our all, the light that burst upon the eyes of this dying girl shall never meet with a shipwreek from which there is no salvation. The mind that is manly, $128 55 should consider these things.

What is a Lie?

"A LIE-A falsehood uttered for the purpose of deception."—Webster.
"It is wilful deceit that makes a lie. A man may act a lie, as by pointing his finger in the wrong direction when a traveler inquires of him the road."—Par-LEY'S MORAL PEILOSOPHY.

To Lag-1. To utter falsehood with an intention to Decrive, or with any immoral design.

2. To exhibit a false representation; to say or do that which decrease a right to know the truth, or when morality requires a just representation."—Webster.

We collate the above definitions of lying for the benefit of the Know Nothings. JEFFERSON says that nothing so much contributes to the purity of politics as "a frequent recurrence to first principles." Who would have thought, that in this Christian country, in the meridian blaze of the nineteenth century, at a time, too, when such large numbers of the preachers, the guardians of the nation's morality, and the "anointed of the Lord" have entered the political arena, that the distinctions between truth and falsehood should have become so far obliterated that it has become necessary to recur to the first principles of morality?

If the preachers discourse politics from the pulpit, they will, no doubt, excuse us (they are so tolerant) for turning preacher, for the nonce, and preaching a short homily on the following text: "Thou shalt not lie." We have already sufficiently shown the definition of lying; to which may be added, that whatever a man says or does for the purpose of deceiving, is a lie, although it may be true, literally. It is curious to observe what shifts and expedients the Know Nothings resort to, as a kind of plaster or placebo to their tender consciences, for the sin of lying, prescriptions calculated more to please than benefit the patient. For instance: Although this secret political society is well known by every man, woman, and child in the United States, by the name of Know Nothings, and Know Nothings themselves recognize it by that name, yet they give themselves some ridiculous, grandiloquent name, such as the "Supreme Order of atum: e. g. the "Band quarrel") - separate the Star-Spangled Banner;" and when asked if stairways lead to these society rooms respectthey belong to the Know Nothings they will ively. say no, (excusing themselves mentally by the subterfuge, that their true name is "The Supreme Order of the Star-Spangled Banner," Night Hawks, or what not.) Now, to the minds of all plain and honest men, this is miserable falsehood and deceit. You have wilfully and knowingly uttered that word "no," with the front is one hundred and forty-five feet and intention to deceive, and this is a lie!

"O, what a tangled web we weave, When once we labor to deceive!"

The subtlest machinations of the Jesuits, the followers of Ignatius Loyola, were not more reprehensible, as to lying and deceit, than the Know Nothings of the United States of America, who have found it necessary to bind themtion, in defiance of the constitution of their practical attainments. country; in defiance of Christian charity; in defiance of the principles of Universal Emanhead and bloody bones! Those marked with a star [*] have require a payment to the government of informed us that they have withdrawn from the two cents on each copy of a newspaper

> In anticipation of the new law, which is expected to pass in July next, the proprietors of the London Illustrated News announce that they shall double the size of their journal without increasing the price. This will give the public, as one of the first fruits of the repeal, a magnificently illustrated newspaper, of 32 large octavo pages, for 121 cents—the cheapest paper of the kind in the world. Prospectuses for cheap daily newspapers, like those we enjoy here, have been issued in London and other cities. In Liverpool, a city having a population of 400,000 souls, they have at present only one daily newspaper, the Northern Times, six cents per copy, and it is of rather recent orgin. Three new papers are, however, announced there to commence with the new law, to wit:--the Daily Post, at four cents, the Daily News, at two cents, and the Events, at one cent. In London the price of the first class daily papers is at present ten cents per copy.

The passage of a measure which will tend to fill the country with printing presses, and bring knowledge to the hearthstones of England's now thirsting millions, will be an occasion for general rejoicing among her people. Its effects will be deeply felt all over Europe. Cheap newspapers are the wings of liberal ideas. Before them despotism must crumble,

THE TRUE ORIGIN OF KNOW NOTHINGISM. One of the best things we have read in answer to some of the ridiculous pretensions of Know Nothingism, is a private letter from Rev. Mr. Garret of Mississippi, which was afterwards published. He is 80 years old and has been a Methodist minister 60 years. In speaking of the religious proscription of the K. N.'s he says:

"This ugly feature in degenerate human nature began to be developed at an early period in the world's history. Abel was the first victim of its prey, and Cain the first inquisitor or executioner. It seems too that Cain was the first "Know Nothing," for when he was asked-"Where is Abel, thy brother?" he answered—"I know not.' Alas for poor human nature !?

After the 1st of July next, the postage on all letters must be paid in stamps.

IT As a SPRING and SUMMER MEDICINE, Carter's Spanish Mixture stands pre-eminent above all others. Its singularly efficacious action on the blocd; its strengthening and vivifying qualities; its tonic action on the Liver; its tendency to drive all humors to the surface, thereby cleansing the system according to Nature's own prescription; its harmless, and at the same time extraordinary good effects, and the number of cures testified to by many of the most respectable citizens of Richmond, Va., and elsewhere, must be conclusive evidence that there is no humbug about it.

The trial of a single bottle will satisfy the most sceptical of its benefits.

The condition of the stomach is of vital importance. No man, woman or child can be healthy unless the work of digestion is regularly, thoroughly, and vigorously performed. With three-fourths of civilized ociety, this is not the case. And yet the remedy is within the reach of all. Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Here is a case: ASTHMA CURED.

Brooklyn. N. Y., Dec. 20, 1853. For about eight years I have been severely afflicted with the Asthma; for the last two years I have suffered beyond all my powers of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in bed, getting what rest I could sitting in a chair. My difficulty of breathing, and my sufferings, were so great at times, that for hours together my friends expected that each hour would be my last. During the past six years I have had the aid and attendance of some of the most ce'ebrated physicians, but have received no permanent benefit, and but little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr. Curtis' Hyggan or Inheling Hyggan Vican. little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr. Curtis' Hygean or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup. At the time I first obtained it, I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks, and was in great distress, almost suffocating for want of breath. In less than ten minutes from the time I applied the Inhaler to my stomach, and took a teaspoonful of the Cherry Syrup, I was relieved in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing, and had a comfortable night. I have since continued with the greatest possible benefit, and am now comparatively well. God only knows the amount of suffering this medicine has possible benefit, and am now comparatively went. God only knows the amount of suffering this medicine has relieved me from. My advice to the suffering is—ray ir.

CONSUMPTION CURED! New York, Dec. 27 1853. I came to New York in the ship Telegraph; my na-ive place is St. John's New Brunswick; when I reachtive place is St. John's New Brunswick; when I reached this city my health was very poor; had a very bad cough, raised a good deal of matter, which was frequently mixed with blood; bad pain in my left side, and was very weak and emaciated. My friends and physician pronounced my case Consumption, and beyond the reach of medicine. I accidentally heard of Dr. Curtis' Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Oherry Syrup, and obtained a package, which I verily be lieve was the means of saving my life. Soon after wearing the Inhaler; I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the disease made its apmy lungs, and after a while the disease made its appearance upon the surface under the Inhaler. I took pearance upon the surrace under the linear. I took the Cherry Syrup as directed, and continued to do so, my cough gradually growing better, until it entirely left me, and I now consider myself cured. I still wear the Inhaler, as the use of it is rather pleasant, and believing it strengthening and purifying to the lungs, I feel unwilling at present to dispense with it.

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN. One-hundedth E dition (500,000). io., pp. 250 [ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

Every complaint to which woman is subject, from girlhood to womanhood, as also as wife and as mother, re fully described; with the causes, the symptoms, and also proper mode of treatment in a plain, simple, but in the most chaste language, easily understood. And thus every woman can discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, character and causes of her complaint; and be spared much anxety and suffering.

The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice of the utmost importance to her future health, in respect to which her sensitiveness forbids consulting a medical gentleman, will find such instruction and advice, and also explain many symptoms which otherwise would occasion anxiety or alarm.

How many are suffering from obstructions or irregularities peculiar to the female system, which undermine the health, the effects of which they ard ignorant, and for which their delicacy forbids seeking medical advice?
