How to Educate a Man of Business. In the education of a business man, if must never be forgotten that his future ife will be a life of action, and not of study. Great care must, therefore, be taken that the health be not impaired in a strife for useless honors, that the feelings be not suffered to grow over-sensitive in recluse contemplation, nor the mind lose its spring and elasticity under a load of cumbersome and unpractical learning. It has been said that at least one-fourth of the students of colleges leave them with impaired health, full one-half are too senitive to bear the rude jostlings of the world; and, perhaps, two-thirds of the balance have some defect that would seriously mar their happiness and usefulness. A collegiate education cannot be recommended, and if attainable, is not desirable. A counting-house is the business man's college. When the youth has finished his course of preparaory education, at a school or private seminary, under the charge of an able instructor, who teaches as much by conversation as by a prescribed course, he should go into a counting-house, that he will learn order, method, obedience, and acquire a knowledge of life and the business of life. It is there that he will learn the value of time and the value of money, two very important things to know. Whatever of conceit he may have brought from the village academy is soon rubbed out of him. He learns to obey, to submit and to be patient-to endure reproof without anger, and to bear contradictions with good humor. He is obliged to keep his wits about him, to decide quickly, to have accurate eyes, and truthful ears, and to learn there are just sixty minutes in an hour. A counting-house education will be of advantage to every man, whatever his future occupation may be. A moral education need not be dwelt upon. This is especially a work of self-cultivation. No one's principles can be called temptation proof, but those which are the result of logical conviction, and for which repeated sacrifices have been made. As ability to communicate varied and practical knowledge by conversation, is a qualification that especially fits man to be a teacher, it should not be overlooked in the selection of one. - Freedly's Treatise on Business.

READ THIS!-Friends and foes, of all ages and sexes, hear me, when I say, that from this ood hour henceforth and forever, I renounce ill allegiance to Know Nothingism. I was taken nto the order without a knowledge of its treason and atrocities. of Maine, the stronghold of Compuls Temperance, is sold to rum dealers rum sellers, and the "glory of Ichabod departed." All of which, in plain English means that at the recent election, Gover nor Morrill has been defeated, an and Assembly have been elected. As even sensible person foresaw, the mighty excit ment with regard to liquor selling, produ. ced a reaction to the same extent not any longer incur the odium attached to making complaints in the manner pre scribed, and we heard without surprise original advocates of a restrictive law had changed, and that they looked upon the experiment as a failure. More enthusiastic persons thought differently, and under the leadership of Neal Dow, they succeeded in procuring the addition of more stringent provisions to the Law than it had before contained, and Mr. Dow was elected Mayor of Portland, merely as a token of gratitude of the inhabitants of that place, for his benevolence and philanthropy. The practical workings of the law, with supplementary adjuncts, have, however, been again found wanting.

The provisions of the Maine Law Stat. ute were so evidently the united products of demagogueism and fanaticism, and are 50 akin in their spirit to the working of Abo. litionism, Woman's Rights, "Vote yourself a farm," and many similar modern effer vescence, that we have condemned them and foreseen their necessary final explosion; but we should equally deplore a reaction to the other extreme. Many of our readers remember the foundation of the first Temperance Socie.

menced a successful crusade against fash ionable tippling, and brandy and water hospitality, as well as public dram shows which carried with it the good will of nearly all classes of society. The voluntablished, its effects were so apparent that it began to be disreputable for gentlemen to ask each other "to drink," as ther had done before, and hundreds of thousands ing men took pride in avowing themselves recruits to the rapidly swelling ranks of the organization against drunkenness. If, in addition to the efforts that were then had been passed, and plans had been taken to carry them into effect,—and if means had been used to remove from our large cities a portion of its immigrant population—the new system would have prob ably continued to prosper, and its herlify development would have been felt at the present day. In 1836, however, or sooner, the cloven foot of fanaticism male its appearance. What the enemy of all good could not oppose, he sought to ruin by his embraces. To the cause of Temperance, he brought the aid of intemperate action. From that time to this the Temperance Society has progressively decayed; first of all, by introducing absurd opposition to the use of every species of exciting drink, (as, for instance, cider, beer, and even coffee and tea,) and then by changing into an involuntary and compulsory system which had begun on the principle of moral suasion, and an appeal to the better nature of actively to cooperate with those who overthrew the most wise and philanthropic endeavor to do good in Temperance, that has yet existed on this continent.
In process of time, there came to the aid of the Teetotalers, a priest from Ireland, who, in view of the great amount of in his countrymen to enter into a religiou obligation or "vow" to abstain from intox icating drinks. It is difficult to estimate the relative value of Father Matthew's la bors, but we believe that most members of his own persuasion even, are now convinced that although his success was apparently great, the ultimate result to those who incurred the obligation he required, was as a general remark, injurious. He still has partizans, but the wisest enemies of drunkenness think that this exaggerated Teetotalism has not benefitted, but been a drawback to the legitimate cause of Temperance. He, more than any other man, brought the subject of Total Abstinence before the people in such a shape, that Eastern Demagogues began to court it a valuable political adjunct to Abolition ism; and it has been used as such to the present time.

The rise and progress of the Maine Liquor Law agitation is well known. It has presented that mingling of good and dan gerous features which easily seduce flight enthusiasts, and has done more injury ! consequence of the basis of sound prince ples on which it appeared to rest, than at unadultered evil would have been likely o accomplish. Every good citizen is friend of Temperance. Every virtuals man shrinks from the contamination to his family, friends, and country, which may be question. I will send you a copy if I can It is not difficult to imagine a salutary support to Temperance, which would be constitutional, and which might deprive intemperance of a portion of its allurements. Therefore the prestige in favor of the Maine Liquor Law was great; and had it been essentially sound and true in principle, it might have bestowed a lasting benefit upon the country. But in Maine, since here, it has been a tool in the hands of demagogues, and the consequence the reaction which has begun against it, dead, see the wisdom of again uniting in those philanthropic and Christian efforts, which have wrought the only triumphs of The Tribune "gives it up!" The State Temperance the world has ever known;

Let the victim of dyspepsia or indigestion in any of its forms, try it, and we guarantee a good appetite, physical vigor, firm nerves, sound sleep by night, and increased cheerfulness by day.

A Wonderful Discovery Has recently been made by Dr. Curtis of this city, in the treatment of Consumption, Asthma, and all diseases of the lungs. We refer to "Dr. Curtis's Hygeana. or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup," With this new method Dr. C. has restored many afflicted ones to perfect health; as an evidence of which he has innum crable certificates. Speaking of the treatment a physician remarks:—It is evident that inhaling—constantly breathing an agreeable, healing vapor, the medicinal properties must come in direct contact with the whole properties must come in direct contact with the whole of the grial cavity of the lungs, and thus escape the many and varied changes produced upon them when introduced into the stomach, and subjected to the process of digestion. The Hygeana is for sale at all the druggists throughout the country. (From the New York Dutchman of Jan. 14th.)

II The following are the rates at which the Prairie City Bauk, Terre Haute, is buying Indiana Free Bank Money, as taken from the Courier of that city. Some may ask why we quote at the Terre Haute rates. Our answer is, because the papers of neither Indianapolis or New Albany publish them at all, so far as we have observed. We shall correct the list weekly, and our readers may rely on its correctness.

Hurley's Sarsaparilla.

THIS invaluable compound, so fully appreciated by the American people, is gaining wide celebrity, and has become permanently established the best and and has become permanently established the best and most effective medicine of the day. Certificates are daily pouring in from all parts of the States, and the afflicted now rejoice that there is help when every other remedy proved ineffectual. Diseases which for years proved a source of misery and agonizing torture readily yield beneath its irresistible influence, and countless families rendered happy and cheerful by its extraordinary efficacy. If you want the pure and genuine Sarsaparilla, that which is as different and superior to Bull's, Blackwell's, Townsend's, Sands', Guysott's, Cox's, or any other companyed as one thing is capable of being any other compound, as one thing is capable of being to another, then take Hurley's, for out of thousands of cases scattered through Alabama, Mississippi, Wiscon-

System.
Unlike other compounds which, when first introduced, are said to possess medical qualities, but soon de-generate into injurious trash, this highly concentrated fluid Extract, is prepared with the greatest accuracy and chemical knowledge, entirely of vegetable substan-ces, and warranted never to deviate in strength. The powerful machinery employed with care devoted in combination, together with the important fact that it is the only preparation in America containing Honduras or Para root, establish beyond all doubt that it is the sufferer's remedy. Its extensive popularity and wide-spreading fame, coupled with unparalleled cures effect-ed by its agency, have gained both public confidence and professional reliance. Therefore, henceforth let it be understood, for the proofs are too numerous and overwhelming to be questioned, that HURLEY'S SAR-SAPARILLA is the most valuable and wonderful medicine ever offered to the world.

Louisville, April 5, 1855. Hurley's Sarsaparilla is what is represented, and I believe it the most wonderful medicine before the public. Nothing under heaven could induce me to say so without proof of the strongest and surest kind; therewithout proof of the strongest and surest kind; therefore I speak willingly and positively on the subject.

My daughter has been afflicted with skin diseases and stiffness of the joints for several years. I employed the principal physicians of this city, and they could not cure her. I gave her your Sarsaparilla, not expecting it would do much good, but, to my great astonishment, she rapidly got well, and, thank God, continues so.—

Having been engaged in the drug business for several years, I do not hesitate to pronounce Hurley's Sarsaparilla the best preparation now in use.

GEORGE MULLIKIN. OREGON, Ind., Nov. 28, 1854.

Dr. Hurley-Sir: Your Sarsapatilla certainly de serves to supersede all other preparations of that medskill in making proper selections from the different qualities found in our markets, and that which has been vended in the form of nostrums has generally been prepared by ignorant, incompetent and mercenary quacks, which, if containing any Sarsaparilla at all, was a very cheap and worthless article, and in the majority of in stances left the sufferer in a much worse condition than before taking it. Having tested your Sarsaparilla, I am pleased to say that it is free from the imperfections alluded to, and I therefore take pleasure in recommending it to the confidence of the profession and to the afficted public, and feel perfectly satisfied they will realize everything from it that is to be derived from the use of Sarsaparilla.

M. L. LEWIS,

Market st., between Second and Third.

Jefferson Co., Ky., March, 1855.

Dr. Lewis—I take great pleasure in informing you that I consider your Mother's Friend one of the very best compounds now offered to the public, and especially to afflicted famales. For my wife it has worked wonders after a long and tedious trial of three years with other medicines. After she had become much debiliated and almost helpless, from the long continued the process of t use of useless drugs, she resorted to your Mother's Friend in connection with other prescriptions which you ecommended. These she continued for a short length of time, when she recovered, and now enjoys the blessing of good health. One of my neighbors who was afflicted in a manner similar to that of my wife, took the same articles and it produced a most wonderful and speedy cure. It should be found in every family-SAM. B. WOMACK.

NEW ALBANY, 1854. Dr. Lewis-I have used and thoroughly tried your Mothers' Friend, and find it to be one of the best compounds for female weaknesses now extant; and further say that it may well be styled the Mothers' Friend for after all specifics have failed, it has performed cures that appeared almost incredible.

JOS. CADWALADER.

Louisville, Ky., 1854.

Dr. Lewis—Dear sir: I cannot withhold my testimony as to the value of your Mothers' Friend. It has been used freely in my family in distressing complaints, and always with the best effects. It is decidedly the as in the cities, and we intend to do it.
