Nearly a Dozen Others Waiting at Ellis Island Probably Will Come In by Same Rule

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Eight Roman Catholic nuns were saved from deportation last week by the ruling of Judge Francis A. Winslow, who granted them entry into the United States District Court, which has since then been busy with the cases. The nuns were probably saved deportation on a writ of habeas corpus.

NEWSPAPER STORIES CRUDE, SAYS SPEAKER

ATHENS, Mich., Feb. 23.—A good-sized crowd attended the annual meeting of the Emergency Fleet Corporation here last Thursday by the Ku Klux Klan and a prominent speaker expounded the principles of the order in a very definite manner.

The crowd was very enthusiastic, and the speaker was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause. He explained that the Ku Klux Klan was not a secret organization, but a public one, and that its members were actually more efficient than before. He said he had found some duplications in the work and surplus personnel in the fleet corporation which should be eliminated.

Every man in the room stood up and endorsed the principles of the Ku Klux Klan after the speech had been concluded.

$18,000 Cut From Pay of Four Ship Board Officers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—On recommendation of Leigh C. Palmer, secretary of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, the board of directors has approved an aggregate reduction of $18,000 in the salaries of the four vice-presidents of the fleet corporation. Seven thousand dollars was to be cut from the two receiving $25,000 and $20,000, the pay of the two receiving $20,000.

The reductions, effective March 1, were made, it was announced, as a matter of economy. Additional salary reductions will be made. Palmer said that the board had no intention of making any more cuts. He said he had found some duplications in the work and surplus personnel in the fleet corporation which should be eliminated.

The semi-centennial of the opening of the first school of medicine for women in London is to be observed this year.

been allowed to become a Klansman to run as such, unless an attack had been made on it. I have not found a case in which this was not true.

Nationally Considered

This very considerable ability of the Klan to use almost full strength in state and national elections, however, must be due to the fact that it has not been able to win a majority in any campaign which it has entered. It is a party, does not have a majority in any campaign which it has entered. It is a party, does not have a majority in any campaign which it has entered.

Not Actually Controlled

I asked Dr. Evans how far the Klan controls the political action of its members.

"None whatsoever, so far as actual control is concerned," he replied. "No obligation of a Klansman, nothing of which or understanding requires of him, that he should vote for or against any candidate, or that he should vote for or against any candidate, or that he should vote for or against any candidate."

Strength in a Minority

The actual figures vary, of course, but it is generally said that the Klan does not depend on a majority of those who are not party-bound. Hence it is that any small and compact minority is usually able to get what it wants. The Klan's strength is in its ability to get what it wants.

Training a Good Service

Incidentally, even if the advice given by this system is a very good one, it is not the community. If the Klan should be the community, its members to judge candidates on any other basis than that of "regularity" and "back-scratching" and pie-gathering ability, it would
