ROME HAS THROWN DOWN THE GAUNTLET!

In so doing the pope has caused more or less consternation in the camp of certain politicians in America who have endeavored to keep the fact that the Roman Catholic church is in American politics in the background. However, the statement by the pope, made to university students attending the eucharistic congress and carried by the Associated Press under a Rome date line on September 10, stamps indelibly the Roman Catholic church's part in politics and things temporal.

Infant Mortality Statistics Furnish Food for Thought

In a current magazine there appears a lengthy article on the mortality among infants, and in this article is much that gives food for thought. One of the chief points which is brought out is that the chief cause of mortality among infants is the physical condition of the parents. Deaths related to maternal and prenatal causes are the greatest, says the article.

The attitude of Mayor Carrel is believed to be partly responsible for the attempt to instigate a reign of bloody anarchy in Cincinnati. Carrel is the man on which Heck was attacked. He was busy directing his police against a Klan meeting at which a Protestant minister was arrested because he attempted to give a lecture in this city. He is virtually at the mercy of the Klan.

Current Comment on the Klan

Perpetuation of Old Roman Catholic Missions Will Enable Future Generations to See Relics of Big-otry—McAdoo Pleads for Moral Standards—Hearst Tries to Be a Protestant

(By Felix Flee)

John Steven McGraw, noted Roman Catholic propagandist, author of the mission play, popular Pacific coast production, is engaged in promoting a scheme to perpetuate the old Roman Catholic missions of southern California. For the information and guidance of coming generations, it may be well to do this. No ingotry, superstition and cruelty without seeing the need of "guarding against it" in the future. It was not until the rugged Protestant forty-niners went to California, that the Pacific coast began to emerge from the swamps of Roman Catholicism and held up her head for a great forward movement.

Before several hundred delegates of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Los Angeles, William G. McAdoo said that there is nothing so essential to the country as "to restore high moral standards in public life." Mr. McAdoo declared it was the supreme duty of every citizen not only to respect the prohibition law, but to help enforce it. To put such sentiments about the Tammany bunch in New York City would have about the same effect as to "cast pearls before swine." Tammany is tenacious of her religious freedom and her "personal liberty."

I have recently carefully examined a profusely illustrated description of a thought or intention of implying disloyalty, treason or treasonable purposes. About 100 or 150 copies of this book were distributed in many most opposite lines. There are millions of well-disposed people in the United States who need to know and to appreciate the facts concerning the project were of this nation, how the project was carried out by the pope and for what specific purpose. The book also need to have the thought burned into their minds that millions of Protestant Americans are alert and ready to take up arms against the Klan and the forces which are bent upon the blood of noble ancestors were not in vain. Don't fail to see "America" if it comes your way.

Control of the Press
Not one man in ten reads books, but every one of us except the very helpless poor, takes himself every day with the newspapers. In every school, every club, every committee, every public meeting, our blood is coagulated by it, or served Henry Ward Beecher. It is true today. When we look about us and see the influences which control the press we understand the progress made by un-American propagandists.

Others Weapons
A casual examination of "The Challenge of the Klan," by Stearns, will show that the Klan is more than can be truthfully said of other recent books dealing with the Klan movement. The first in the series, the "Weapons," says Mr. Frost. "The Klan has no choice but to fight them on their own ground," he continues, "the Klan is true, the blame for the Klan is true, the blame for the Klan is true, the blame for the Klan is true, the blame for the Klan is true. As to whether this is true or not the writer would suggest that earnest inquirers with open

"In Short"—Anti-Foreigner

In a long, rambling article on how the old Klan of the south was formed, and how the Ku Klux Klan of today came into existence, which was written by the New York Times, the writer says that the Klan is not a new organization, but a revival of an old one. He says that the Klan is a "white man's organization" and that it is "not anti-foreign, it is pro-American." He also says that the Klan is "not anti-Catholic, it is anti-pagan." The article is full of such statements and is a typical example of the "in short" style of the Times.

Also, it is true that the Klan believes in the separation of church and state. It is true that the Klan is a "white man's organization" and that it is "not anti-foreign, it is pro-American." FOES MAKE THREAT TO 'GET' PREACHER

NORTH GRAYTON, Mass., Sept. 15.—The Second Baptist Church of North Grayton was crowded to the doors Sunday by friends of the Klan to see the Rev. A. L. Walker, who a few weeks ago was denounced by the Klan as a "black preacher" and a "traitor to the white race." Walker made a bold statement of faith and courage, and declared that he would not get driven out of town by the Klan. He said that he would hold evangelistic services in the church soon, to carry the challenge to support of the church.

NEWARK, O., Sept. 15.—Police officers here last week confiscated a copy of a radical anti-Klan paper, "The American Worker," for its "incendiary and obscene" content. The paper had been published in Newark and was being distributed in other parts of the state. The police said that the paper was "a threat to the public peace and order."
